Section 76703@ Class "a" Violations

76703 Class "a" Violations

A class "A" violation is any violation of a statute or regulation relating to the operation or maintenance of any facility which presents an imminent danger to the clients of the facility or a substantial probability that death or serious physical harm would result therefrom. A physical condition or one or more practices, means, methods or operations in use in a facility may constitute such a violation.
